Astronaut Training, Weightlessness and Giant Lightning

Astronauttræning, vægtløshed og kæmpelyn

A super exciting first-hand description of his experiences in space from Andreas Mogensen, ghost-written by Thomas Brunstrøm. Part of Carlsen's popular non-fiction series, Er du rigtig klog?

Andreas Mogensen (b. 1976) works as an astronaut for the European Space Agency, ESA. He was in Space for the first time in 2015 and is currently on a mission the last 6 months, back again February 2024.

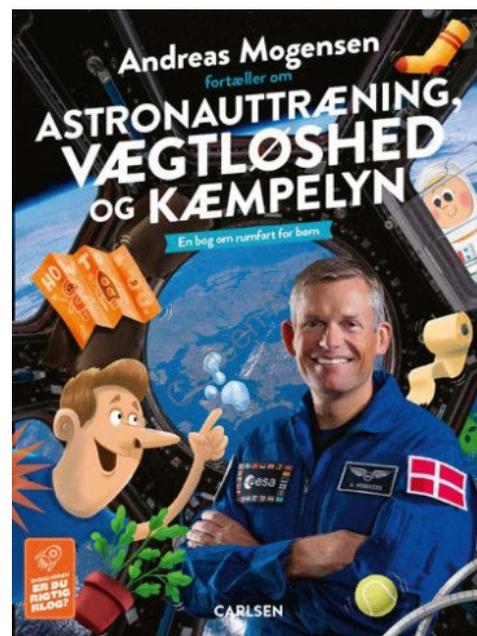

Thomas Brunstrøm is a bestselling author, freelance journalist, film critic and podcast host - and real-life dad to Sally and Eddie.

SYNOPSIS

Andreas Mogensen tells us about what it feels like to be chosen as astronaut among 10000 others. How it feels to be completely weightless and suddenly stand on the ceiling. How nervewrecking it is to train with the robot arm which has to catch your supplies in space so they don't float away. And how it feels to look down at earth from space and understand how important and precious our planet is and how silly it is to not look after it properly.
