

Lars Daneskov
Martin Jørgensen

Goodnight Man Godnatmand

Follow the boy, Louis, through twelve hilarious chapters, as he accompanies the great-great-great-grandchild of The Sandman to help him learn how to make little people sleep, instead of waking them up.

Lars Daneskov (b. 1963) is a journalist and author and has written about 30 books in a variety of genres, for both children and adults.

Martin Jørgensen is a self-taught illustrator and artist with a background in the advertising industry.

SYNOPSIS

Goodnight Man is not just any ordinary man. He is the great-great-great-grandson of The Sandman himself, and just like his famous great-great-great-grandfather, Goodnight Man's job is to visit little people and other magical creatures so that they can fall asleep. Unfortunately, things aren't going very well.

That's why a boy named Loui has to step in as Goodnight Man's assistant. Together, they venture out into the night, where they encounter everything from sleepwalking robots, burglars and knitting stick men, to peeing turtles and ravenous parasols.

With cute illustrations by Martin Jørgensen.

Original Language: Danish

Original Publisher: Forlaget Tallulah

Published: February, 2027

167 pages

Category: Children's Books

Sub-category: Middle-Grade

Genre: Humour

Available material: English sample available upon request

Territories Handled

World except: Danish