The Destiny Maker

Skæbnemageren

The Destiny Maker is a graphic novel about dark desires, jealousy, regret and courage, aimed at 12+. It is a story about finding yourself, claiming the right to free will and creating your own destiny - even if you are a character in a story. It's a dense fantasy story, full of power and colour, full of images, the result of a very successful collaboration between the author and illustrator Lars Gabel.

Kenneth Bøgh Andersen is a bestselling Danish author of horror, fantasy and sci-fi novels, translated into 15 languages.

SYNOPSIS

How do you know if you're evil? Are you evil? Are you?

In a moment of anger, Simon wishes that his successful and popular twin brother had never been born. The next morning his brother is really gone and it's as if he never existed - he has disappeared from all family photos and their parents appear to have no recollection of them ever having had twin sons.

Simon realises that a passage to another world has opened up through a painting in his room, and he puts his life on the line to find his brother and bring him back to their family. He enters the portal to another world through the painting and sets out on a perilous journey to set things right.

REVIEWS

"The Destiny Maker is an exciting and colourful fabulation that also tackles some very big issues." – (Weekendavisen)

"The comic The Destiny Maker is a hugely impressive achievement, which with energy, ingenuity and plenty of narrative joy serves up a fantasy adventure from a world that the reader almost feels surrounded by. Effective changes of style, varied and thoughtful colouring and the familiar, lively Kenneth Bøgh-Andersen dialogue. It's quite simply a pleasure." – (Jyllandsposten)
